

Save the Date

Inaugural NorCal

Men and Child Care Conference

October 22, 2016

8:00am – 4:30pm

American River College, Sacramento, CA

Don't miss out!

Join advocates for men in early education in this important conference.

Early-Bird Registration is now available!

Early bird AEYC members and Los Rios College District students $44.00

Early bird non-members $57.00

Early Bird Registration includes:

Admission to the full day of conference events

Light breakfast - Box lunch

Conference t-shirt

You will be able to register through EventBrite beginning June 10, 2016

<http://menandchildcare.eventbrite.com>

Conference Highlights

In a safe and collaborative environment, you will:

- Learn and discuss the history of men working in the early care and education profession and the unique challenges they experience.
- Explore and identify resources and support for men working in the field of early care and education.
- Co-develop an advocacy plan to promote more gender equity.

Who should attend?

- Anyone interested in promoting more gender diversity in the field of early care and education.

Featured Speakers:

- Anthony Taylor and Steve Egawa: Classroom teachers from Step One School
- Dr. Shaun-Adrian Choflá from Pacific Oaks College

A unique element of this conference will be intimate facilitated small group discussions. Your voice will be heard!

The Inaugural NorCal Men and Child Care Conference is brought to you through a collaboration between Sacramento Valley Association for the Education of Young Children, Peninsula Association for the education of Young Children, East Bay Association for the Education of Young Children, Redwood Empire Association for the education of Young Children, National Human Development Foundation, and the Men in Child Care Committee of the California Association for the Education of Young Children.